THE Amoy Gazette (19th) mentions that the Billish barque Maid of Judah is condemned and that she will probably be sold by publie anotion shortly.

It has been rumoured in the Seitlement during the last few days, says the N. C. D. News, that telegraphic news had been receized to the effect that a disturbance had occurred among the natives in or near Swatow. The story told was to the effect that[a rising had taken place in consequence of an increase of taxation, and the enforcement of a system of conscription whereby one son out of every family consisting of more than four was to join the army. We mention the rumour for what it is worth, placing little reliance in it ourselves, as we have been unable to trace the telegram to a reliable source, the two native firms who are said to have received it being reticent on the aubject.

THE Singapore Times (14th) has the follow-ing paragraph:—

The United States corvette Swaters, at present in harbour here, will leave in a few days for Bangkok, Saigon and the China Station as a reinforcement to the American Squadron under Rear Admiral Patterson. SUPREME COURT. IN CRIMINAL SESSIONS. Before the Chief Justice, Sir John Smale. Saturday, May 22nd.

DECOYING A GIRL. Case No. 8, on the list was the only one heard to day. In this case Chan Aling was charged on two counts: -(1) unlawfully and by frau I taking away I om this Colony a female for the purposes of emigration, (2) un'awfully and by fraud attempting to take away from this Colony, the same female for the purposes of prostitution.

The Jury consisted of the following gentlemen :- Mesers Robt. Cook. D. Almao, J. O. Cohen, J. J. Souza, Alex. Wasserfall, J. F. C. de Roza, and Jessa Clook. The Attorney General said the prisoner was charged with taking away a young girl, by fraudulent means, to Singapore for the purposes of emigration. The girl had lived with her mother in the neighbouring province and appeared to have come here in obarge of two women ; while she was here the prisoner, apparently with the connivance and assistance of her own brother, deceived the child and induced her to go to Singapore for it came to that for the purpose of raising money. He had made certain representations but he need not go into the story; the girl would tell the jury the whole circumstances better than he could. If the gentlemen of the jury were satisfied that the general facts were as he now stated, they would find the prisoner guilty on the first count. He was also charged with taking away the child to Cauton. That was a distinct and different Lordship will occupy with the summary oharge and the evidence was somewhat difthe child's story, but leave the jury to hear

> The girl, Wong Ayan, being declared said .- I am 14 years of age | I lived at my mother, father being dead before I was born On the 10 h October, 1879, my mother sent me to Hongkong in charge of two women to get a husband. I was kept bere in a family house for some time trying to get a husband. Prisoner was a friend of one of the women who brought me hart. He offered to take me to Talping shan to recommend a husband for me. I went there and remined there one or two months. My brother, Wong Ling Kai, came down to visit me while I was there. The prisoner was there then and heard him till me that my mother was dead. He said that my agent bad brought me out to married and for such a long time no money had been coming. Prisoner said.

I might be pawned I than there would be some money to bury my mother with. If t could not be pawned I could be sold. The Chief Justice : Pawned to do what I Witness: Pawned into a family house. The Chief Justice : As what? Witness : As a slave girl.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE

(Ex Army Med. Staff) IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION .- Vice-Chancellor Sir W. 1 Wood stated that Dr. Collis Browns was undoubtedly the Inventor of Chlorodyne, that the story of the Defendant, Freeman, being the Inventor was deliberately untrue; which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent Hospital Physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's. - See Times, July 12, 1864. The public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than DE. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION. This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most exten-

CHIORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseasesdiphtheria, fever, croup, ague. CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in diarrhoes, and is the only specific in cholera and dysentery. CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of epilepsy, hysteria, palpitations

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in neuralgia, rheumatism, gout, cancer, toothache, meningitis, &c.

RITRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS. The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne,-

See Lancet, Dec. 31, 1864. From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay :- "Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen A BASE FRAUD is being per- medies had failed."

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLOLODYNE was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera _... So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases.

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, August 1, 1869, which states that Dr. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne; that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered. CAUTION .- None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

THE RUSSO-CHINESE TREATY NEGOTIATED BY CBUNG-HOW.

The following is the substance of the Treaty entered into by Chung How with Russia, and which has not been before published. The part referring to the right of each Russian to carry a gun, noticed in the memorial appears to be omitted from the copy sent to us (Courier), and we have not been able to supply the omission :--

Article 2.—China consents to grant an amnesty to the inhabitants of Ili. Article 3.—The inhabitants of Ili who nations will also like to profit by this she has weary soldiers and is without ku or in other three Eastern provinces, remove to Russian territory shall be treated equally and enjoy the same rights

QUEER STORIES.

A PARLIAMENTARY CANDIDATE.

"Want to get into Parliament do yer? observed Mr Silas A. Fluke eyeing his companion in a business-like manner. "I wouldn't now, if I were you; but I think I know a man that can do the trick for you." Then, after musing a minute over a rather intractable cigar, he asked suddenly, "How much?"

The person with whom he had been talking in the coffee-room of the Langthe tune, for he had never heard it; but ham Hotel, where they had met by chance, was a pale, nervous-looking man, with rather too high a forehead, and a general appearance of money and ill-health. He seemed amazed at the discourse of Mr Fluke; but merely contented himself with answering, "What queer ideas of England you Americans seem to have!"

"Mebee, mebbe not," replied the Yankee; "but Ishave done a good deal in elections off and on since I was raised, and hearing the old game was going to begin on this side of the big ditch, I thought I'd keep my hand in.'

"I fancy you won't have much busisaid the condidate for Parliamentary honours, whose name was Pillster.

"Don't know so much about that. I've got a borough in my room drinking a julep just now, if he ain't gone away. He calls every day for orders punctually at one o'clock, and when I'm not in he has the run of my cigar-

"What do you mean?" asked Mr Pillster, rather testily, for true-born Britons do not like to have the institutions of their country set at nought by foreigners, and Mr Pillster was a high and dry Conservative enlightened patriot as became a man who had made a fortune in Japan.

"I mean just this. Sir Richard Porteous has got a family borough, been in his gift for ever so long, and he and I mean to sell it to the best bidder. That is our line of policy, or leastways mine. | teous. We settled it at blind-hookey coming over. Mebbe I could pot one or two more through Mrs Helen C. Cheke, our newest Yankee girl out here, and p'rhaps as many through Ephraim Scheuto, the bill discounter, who is well in with most of your Lords and highflyers. But the borough I've told you Mr Pillster in travelling costume the about is the only one I have speculated in as yet, and a very nice borough it is, legislator of the successful trader in mind you. All fair and square. Agrithirty-four by Dod-same as Portarlington—all tenants at will, and processes ready to serve on the majority bar I'm come for it myself to prevent one, who is Sir Richard himself. That's mistakes before I say ta-ta to this rotten a safe thing, I think, Mister!"

"Ha!" said Mr Pillster, beginning to take an interest in the conversation. He had seen a Parliamentary agent that morning, who had given him a very different account of elections. He too, indeed, had talked of money, but it was in connection with journeys, dinners, printing, hotel bills, advertisements, local solicitors, and other items of expense intelligible to the British understanding, whereas Mr Silas A. Fluke professed that the whole thing could be managed over a sherry-cobbler and a single cheque if it were only large

M. Pillster did not want money. There was no mistake about the fortune with Yokohama, would not have been surprised to see his name to a draft in several figures. Moreover, if anything really could be done through this queer American whom he had picked up in a coffee-room, it would simplify matters considerably. He felt the more inclined to sound the Yankee further because one especial part of his proceeding as a candidate for Parliamentary honours made him nervous and unhappy. Mr Knox, of the eminent firm of Knox & Scufflewell, who were his own men of business, had assured him that he would have to spend at least a week in winning the good graces of an eccentric old gentleman who really disposed of the chief interest in the place which they had selected as most likely to return him qualified for legislative honours: and this had weighed upon his mind like

Mr Scufflewell, when also consulted, expressed the same opinion, and charged the interview in which he did so at two guineas in the day book of the firm, for Parliamentary agents make charges commensurate with their professional dignity. There they stopped; and Mr Knox, who had rather an agreeable wit, whistled slowly the popular Irish tune, "You're not the man for Galway." Mr Pillster did not recognise
